

The CHARLOTTE MUSEUM of HISTORY

Wedding Packages

Celebrate your enduring love at Charlotte's oldest home.

The Charlotte Museum of History sits on eight wooded acres just minutes from Uptown Charlotte and offers a variety of indoor and outdoor spaces. We can make your wedding one-of-a-kind, whether you have dozens of guests or hundreds.

Our modern museum building is just steps away from the Queen City's oldest house, the 1774 Alexander Rock House.

Walk the stone path through our woodland of oaks, poplars, and ferns and cross the rock bridge over Alexander Mill Creek to enter the historic homesite. This park-like setting includes a log barn, herb garden, springhouse, colonial-era kitchen, and picturesque lawn. The museum's American Freedom Bell – the largest ground-level bell in the nation – can ring out to celebrate your vows.

To speak with someone about planning your special day, complete our Rental Inquiry Form at charlottemuseum.org or contact our event manager, Tracy Ryals at tracy@charlottemuseum.org or 704.568.1774, x 106.

We can't wait to speak with you about making your special day beautiful and memorable.

In addition to our historic structures, we offer modern indoor spaces like our Great Hall, which seats 160 and features a show-stopping chandelier. Our grand staircase is a perfect spot for pictures or bidding good night to your guests. We even have a space especially designed for younger guests in your party, our Backcountry Gallery for kids. And of course, we offer a bridal room where you can get ready for your big day.

Our wedding and reception packages start at $3,000 and include amenities that are often extra at other venues, including free parking, A/V, chairs, and tables. You're also free to rent your own tables and chairs if you have something specific in mind.

The museum can provide a list of caterers or choose your own. Your options are unlimited.
